

CAUGHT A FORGER

CHARLES REVEL IN THE TOILS OF LAW AT WELLINGTON

He was the Sleek Individual That Hit the Kansas National With a Forged Check for $150—He Did Up Wellington, Winfield, Emporia and Arkansas City Also—His Wild Career of Penmanship Terminates at the Latter City Where He Made a Slight Mistake in Initials—Novel Method of Raising the Hoodie.

Charles Revel is now a guest of the county jail at Wellington. Charles is a man who is supposed to have done a great deal of fine handed work among the banks in Kansas and caught one of the national banks of this city for $150.

He was more kind to Wichita than he was to other towns for he caught two banks at Wellington, two banks at Arkansas City and one at Emporia.

Charles, of course, denies his guilt but the bankers who went to Wellington a few days ago positively identified him as the man who did them up.

His home is said to be at, or near, Stillwater, Oklahoma, and it is even said that he goes under the assumed name of Charles E. Hester.

Despite his protestations of innocence he is held and firmly bound in the dungeon of Sumner county as a check criminal.

The methods of Mr. Revel are very novel. They work like a charm and it was by the merest accident that he was caught.

Mr. Revel traveled around the country a great deal and stopped at small towns. He had money to jangle in his pocket all the time and whenever he opened his pocket the corner of a $100 bill could be seen.

After being about a day or so in a little town he would get acquainted with the local grain or stock buyer and talk about buying him out. He had always one great complaint to make against the town and that was that there was no bank there.

"Well, if you have considerable money about me and I would like to put it in a bank," he would say.

"Well, why don't you go into Wichita and put it in a bank there?" the grain buyer would say.

"I don't know anything about the 'Wichita banks,' the swindler would then say. "A man who is a stranger and don't know the country or the banks is very much in danger as it is hard now, since the panic, to get a 'bank'."

The grain buyer would then very naturally say "I am doing business at such a bank and I know they are safe."

"Well, if you recommend it," the swindler would then say, "I guess I will go in and deposit my money there."

Before he would do this he would say, "By the way, write me out the name of your firm so I may write to correspond with you about our deal in a day or two."

The grain buyer, of course, would write his name on a piece of paper and the swindler would put it in his pocket. The next thing he would do is to forge the grain buyer's name to a check and get it cashed where he knew where his money was on deposit.

He was so clever at his work that nobody ever caught him at it until he went to Arkansas City. There he was met by a man there was a grain buyer named H. M. Gieley and his good wife was named M. Gieley. In this family the good wife wore the Mexican blouse which the old man did the work she kept the bank account. The swindler caught the old man for a sucker and he received his signature from him when he cashed the check and presented it to the banker at Arkansas City.

The cashier told him that there was a slight discrepancy in the initials on the check and he handed the check back for correction. The swindler wanted to argue the matter and in the course of the argument the cashier learned enough to know that Mr. Revel was a forger and had him arrested. He was taken out of the custody of the officers of Cowley county on a charge of forgery.

Wellington was present who arrested him and took him over to Sumner county. There, also, habeas corpus proceedings were started and the officers from Wellington and Emporia were present. Mr. Revel concluded to take his medicine with the good people of Sumner county.

TWO MORE LAWYERS MADE Henry Huttman and J. C. Herman Admitted to Full Membership at the Bar.

Yesterday Henry W. Huttman of this city and J. C. Herman of Nickerson stood up before Judge Reed and took the oath making them full members of the bar of this county and that means that they are allowed to practice before all the courts of the state in the United States. Their next step will be to become members of the bar of the federal court and after that members of the bar of the supreme court of the United States. This they are now better able to do than many who are already members.

Both presented a splendid appearance as they stood before Judge Reed when he addressed them and each looked as if they thoroughly realized the responsibility of the profession they were about to enter.

Henry Huttman studied law under W. E. Stanley and has always been regarded by him as one of his brightest pupils. He is said to have a long line of ancestors in Germany who are distinguished in the field of learning and his grandfather was a member of the supreme court of Prussia. When Mr. Huttman came to Wichita from Ellingwood his ambition was to be a journalist and for a few years was connected with the Eagle on the local staff. He was a good conscientious newspaper man, but he did not see the future in that he saw in the law and then he became a student of Mr. Stanley. At present he is deputy internal revenue collector with his father in the post-office building. He will stay in that office for some time to come and will still continue to pursue his studies. When this term expires he will go into the law business permanently and will be then as well equipped in legal knowledge as the best of them.

Henry is a bright young man and a hard worker and he has a very bright future before him in the legal profession.

MEN OF THE GRIP Traveling Men Give a Very Good Entertainment at the Edwards Hall.

A very pleasant and enjoyable occasion was the musical and literary entertainment given at the Edwards hall.

Awarded Highest Honors—World's Fair, DR. PINKETTS CREAM BAKING POWDER MOST PERFECT MADE.

A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant. 40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

COMING NEAR HOME

COAL WAS DISCOVERED AT LEON, IN BUTLER COUNTY.

While Drilling His Well Deeper, the Section Foreman of the Frisco Railroad Finds a Three-Foot Vein of Coal at a Depth of Forty-Four Feet from the Surface—The Village is Greatly Excited Over the Find and a Shaft Will Be Put Down Immediately—This Will Reduce the Price of Fuel in Wichita.

The village of Leon, thirty-two miles east of Wichita, is excited over the discovery of a three-foot vein of coal at a depth of forty-four feet from the surface of the ground.

During the afternoon the following special telegram was received by the Eagle:

Leon, Kan., Dec. 28, 1935. While drilling a well in South Leon Dave Hawkins struck a 3-foot vein of coal at a depth of forty-four feet. Coal experts have examined the coal and pronounce it superior to Weir City product. Great excitement prevails and a shaft will be sunk immediately. Samples of the coal may be seen at Westcott's drug store.

DELL WARREN, J. B. WAXDELL. A reporter was detailed to be at the depot to meet the Frisco train from Leon. He was rewarded; as one of the first men who alighted from the train was S. Blakeman, special officer of the Frisco road, who has his residence at Leon.

When approached by the reporter he said: "Yes, I know all about it and if you will come to the Manhattan I will tell you all about it. You can rest assured of one thing, and that is that the discovery is a genuine one, and I hope will prove of great benefit to Wichita."

After arriving at the hotel the gentleman continued: "Anthony Brackbeck, the section boss of the Frisco, who resides at Leon, had just finished paying for his residence, and as his well only produced water sufficient to water his cow he was compelled to carry water for his house and he concluded that he would have his well drilled deeper, and for this purpose contracted with Dave Hawkins of Leon to drill his well at least twelve feet deeper in hopes of finding water."

"Yesterday morning he went to work as usual and Hawkins set up his drill and began drilling an eight-inch hole in the bottom of the well, which was forty feet deep at the time he began work."

"Hawkins had only drilled about eighteen inches when he struck coal slate, and at a depth of forty-four feet from the surface, or four feet from the bottom of the well he struck a vein of coal which lasted until a depth of forty-seven feet, making the vein of coal a little over three feet in depth."

"I examined the coal myself and saw it burn. There was a lot of Weir City coal in town and when compared with the coal taken from the well there was a close resemblance."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

THEY STEAL COAL AT RAILROADS WILL ASK FOR MORE POLICE PROTECTION.

They Claim That They are Losing More Coal Than They Can Well Stand and That the Thing is Getting Very Monotonous—Missouri Pacific is the Victim That Suffers Most—On That Road People Climb on the Moving Cars and Throw Off What They Want—An Example to Be Made of Somebody.

The railroad companies have commenced war on the coal thieves and from now on it will be war to the knife. It is estimated that as high as five tons have been stolen from the Missouri Pacific every night during the past week or two and the thing is getting monotonous to them.

It was said last night that a string of people were on the Missouri Pacific tracks stealing coal wherever they could, being driven to take desperate chances in anticipation of the cold weather. To illustrate how desperate a few people went to the Missouri Pacific tracks, the railroad people insist that they are entitled to protection and they will appeal to the commissioners for it.

The law is more severe on a man who steals coal from a railroad company than if he steals the same amount from a private individual. If he steals from the railroad company, the offense is punishable by confinement in the penitentiary while if he steals from a private person, unless the value of the coal stolen is more than about 50 cents worth, it is a simple misdemeanor. Notwithstanding this the people steal from the railroads as a general thing let the private people alone.

The railroad people find that it is a difficult matter to enforce the law against stealing coal. No one can carry away more than about 50 cents worth at a time and the authorities do not feel like prosecuting a man for the theft of that amount, especially when they take it for granted that the man who steals coal does so to keep his family warm. In other words they do not care to send a person to the penitentiary for the theft of from 10 to 50 cents worth of property, and in addition to that they do not like to take up a man who steals a dime's worth of coal, keeping in jail maybe sixty days at a cost of 40 cents each day and then spend from $25 to $50 to convict him.

As stated, the railroad companies realize this fact but they argue that while each man steals only a small amount the aggregate amounts to a great deal and the punishment they demand it an exemplary one. In other words they do not ask to have every man who steals coal sent to the penitentiary, but they think if one man is convicted that will prevent others from committing a like offense. The county commissioners as well as the police commissioners will be asked to enforce the law and it is probable that some poor devil will be sent to the penitentiary as a frightful example to others.

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

When shown the dispatch which had been received by the Eagle, he said: "Yes, I know both men whose names are signed to the dispatch. Mr. Waxdell is the principal of the school and an excellent gentleman and perfectly reliable. Mr. Warren is a citizen of Leon and in a position to know the facts. You can depend on my word."

FOUND A STARVED BOY

Ed Wigglesworth Makes a Discovery on the Plains of Mexico.

Ed Wigglesworth has a boy on his hands whom he is boarding at the City Hotel on Market street. The boy is named Ed Wigglesworth and was brought about by the big heartedness of the well known sheep man in this city.

Mr. Wigglesworth has in Mexico buried several dead sheep, and on one day he found a half starved lad, about seventeen years of age, who was trying to shoot a turkey buzzard to eat. He put it to Sweden and not overly bright, and when he was found by Mr. Wigglesworth he was almost starved to death. He could not speak a word of Spanish, and he was in a helpless condition. He begged to be taken back to the "states" and said that he had an uncle who was a doctor in the city of St. John, who had some of his money. He begged so pitiously that